Processamento e Recuperação de Informação

Collection

- Deleted some information from both the champions.csv and items.csv that would not be relevant, such as extensive numerical fields
- Compacted some columns into a single one. For exemple a champion can have multiple skins that are now a single array of skins
- Converted both the champions.csv and the items.csv files to json
- Imported them both to Solr using the post command for both

Indexation

- Fields that we decided to indexed for champions:
 - name
 - title
 - tags
 - lore
 - allytips
 - enemytips
 - Skins
 - All of the spells and their description
 - Passive and respective description

Indexation

- Fields that we decided to indexed for items:
 - name
 - plaintext
 - tags

Tokenizers and Filters

- Tokenizer : we used the `solr.StandardTokenizerFactory` in all the indexed fields as we see it as a simple yet effective tokenizer.
- Filters:
 - `ASCIIFoldingFilterFactorySummary`
 - `LowerCaseFilterFactory`
 - `NGramTokenizerFactory`
 - `ClassicFilterFactory`
 - `EnglishPossessiveFilterFactory`

Future Work

- Use vocabulary based filter
- NLP (Neuro-linguistic programming) could be applied regarding the lore in order to extract and search more effectively for complex queries, this could be done by resorting to a filterbased on NER (Name Entity Recognition)
- Improve queries by adding correct weights
